New Artspace in Warragul

VRI Community Centre Warragul

You may have noticed some new signs on the old VRI hall in Queen Street Warragul. The Arts Alliance is pleased to announce that we are now renting the building and are calling it the VRI Artspace.

Many will have fond memories of the VRI hall whether in its past location, a little down the street towards the west, or in its current location. We are working in conjunction with the Victorian Railways Institute to upgrade and restore the building. Some work has already taken place and as more money becomes available, mainly through grants, more work will be able to be done.

We have been welcomed by the four groups who have been calling the VRI home for over 20 years. We are very pleased to be part of this journey and thank the VRI for this opportunity to take on this space for our arts community.

We are finally in Warragul!

We are keen to start up some more of our Drop in Groups, if anyone is interested in running one we could have a chat. The building is also available to hire as long as you have Public Liability Insurance.

Our AGM is on Tuesday August 13 at 7pm to which you are all invited. Come and celebrate with us at the after AGM celebration. We have a celebration planned to welcome us to the VRI Artspace so please consider joining us. We are pretty excited about being in Warragul which is where we have wanted to be since the inception of the Arts Alliance.

President's Notes

Janine Richardson

Hi, everyone,

What a great winter we are having. I haven't seen one so cold for a long time, it gives us time to let our creative minds and juices work.

We are having the Winter fest coming up in Yarragon. We have something special in mind so watch this space / enews.

Our new group on Thursdays at the VRI hall is having fun with mixed media; come along and join the fun.

I had the pleasure of attending the Warragul Camera Club Photography exhibition and presenting the Digital Creative Image prize on behalf of the Arts Alliance. The exhibition was exquisite. I really enjoyed the afternoon. Many thanks to Nerissa Byrne, our prize recipient, for allowing us to include her winning image here.

After the photography exhibition, I had time to catch the last half of the Poetry Catchment event in Drouin; that completed a wonderful afternoon. I had never been to any poetry readings, they were moving and beautifully presented. It won't be my last; can't wait for the next one.

Last but not least a big thank you to all of our volunteers. The Arts Alliance can't run without you! See you at the AGM at the VRI hall to celebrate our accomplishments.

Janine ☺

Hi everyone

This month we are farewelling Heather Easdown our Gallery Volunteers Coordinator. Always sad to say goodbye to someone who has worked so hard to keep our Gallery open and has been a member of our Management Committee. We all thank you very much Heather for your work with the Arts Alliance. We will miss you and your expertise at macrame. We are also losing our macrame Drop-in Group which was running on the first Saturday of each month. Heather had established a very dedicated group who learnt a lot of skills under her tuition but unfortunately, we haven't been able to find anyone to take over the group.

All the best in your move up north Heather.

Replacing Heather as our Volunteers Coordinator is Debbie Churchill. Debbie can be contacted on 0438 565 721 if you have any questions or would like to join us a volunteer. We do provide training and have people to call when you first start in case you are unsure of something.

reminder that we have changed The Station Gallery, Yarragon hours. We will now be opening Wednesday to Sunday from 10am to 3 pm. This will fit in better with the Yarragon business hours. Yarragon becomes very quiet about 3pm. It will also benefit our Volunteers particularly in the winter months.

Artist Profile: Cathy Harris

In the beginning of my art journey, I used oils but changed to acrylics after realising I had an allergy to oils. I now use acrylic paint as it is my favourite. I also like working with polymer clay so people may be surprised that part of my paintings are three dimensional.

When asked to define my work I would probably call it representational depending on what I'm doing. Lately I have been experimenting with other mediums to give a three-dimensional effect.

As a child I liked drawing and art was my best subject at school. I did my first painting at fourteen and entered the Herald Outdoor Art show at 18. Years ago, I did a folk art and decorative art course, but I am largely self-taught. However, I did have quite a few years where I didn't paint.

These days I get my inspiration from nature and my partner Barry who is also very encouraging as well. I also gain inspiration from Gippsland artists whose work I admire; Heleena Coltman, Alene Bonser and Laurel Foenander.

I love colour and am currently enjoying doing some acrylic pouring. Where possible I add realistic elements. ~

My first interest in art was sparked in primary school by a travelling exhibition in Traralgon of famous Australian artists, notably Albert Namatjira, William Dobell. I was impressed by Russell Drysdale's 'The Rabbiters'. This was in the 1950s.

In later years I developed a keen interest in the colourful atmospheric paintings of the Impressionists. I dreamt of going to France to see if the scenes were as colourful as real life.

Eventually I was to walk-in the footsteps of Monet, Pissarro, Alfred Sisley, Renoir, Paul Cezanne, and Vincent Van Gogh and witnessed the colourful light of that part of the world.

My inspiration comes mostly from local scenes done in an impressionistic style, mostly using a mix of gouache and acrylic on canvas.

I hope you enjoy my art. On The Wall, 'Our world of Colour' with Cathy Harris, 4th - 29th September, 2024 🎨

Applications for the 2024/25 season are now open. The first round acceptances will be advised by the second week of August. Payments will then be available from the 12th August.

You will notice that we have had a slight change in our name adding 'Makers' to better reflect the diverse change in techniques and material used today.

You will have no doubt heard that the funding for the the first stage of the New Library precinct at the WGAC, has been approved. Work is meant to be starting in the New Year. If this is the case it may well have an impact on our Arts and Makers market. We have approval from the Baw Baw Shire Council for the market to be held for three months at this stage (October – December 2024) in our previously used location in the car park of the WGAC at Civic Place, Warragul.

At this stage we looking at alternative locations for the remaining markets of January – March 2025 and we will be providing further information on this as soon as we are able. 🎨

Artist Profile: Jill Loader

In 2023, I completed Master of Arts (AM) at RMIT University, Melbourne. The major project I undertook was a comprehensive investigation into the history of Irish Linen. This included the roles of women and my own family who owned a Flax, Dyeing, Bleaching and Beetling Mills.

The first mill was established about 1802 and continued running to early 1900s in county Antrim, Northern Ireland.

My new work and exhibition titled 'Fragments, inspired by the history of Killy Lodge Irish Linen Mill', is informed by the investigative project.

The last few years I have continued to develop my interest in textile art and I have rediscovered skills passed down to me from my mother who learnt from her mother. My interest in the Arts developed at an early age when I was introduced to painting and making objects at Cornelia Creek Primary School near Echuca. I enjoy learning new skills and experimentation.

In the future I plan to continue learning new techniques in the making of textile art and further develop my creative practice. ∞

Artist Profile: Cathy Smith

Above
, Banana Dentata,

I started drawing, painting and building in early childhood when I was encouraged by a relative who worked as an illustrator and produced audio-visual works. My father was not happy when I inserted all his drill bits in the bathroom floor. (my first installation!)

These days I use several mediums including drawing, painting, digital images, fabric and a variety of sculpting mediums to produce an eclectic range of figurative Art. I have very broad tastes and influences so draw my inspiration from a wide range of sources such as other people's art, the small farm we live on, the rhythms of farming, the natural environment, travel, my reading interests. I am amazed by astronomy and astronomically based structures like stone circles as well as work produced by indigenous cultures working outside Renaissance influences.

Years ago, I studied Foundation Art at Prahran TAFE and Visual Art at RMIT. I love and continue to learn to use Computer Aided Design (CAD) as well as 3D printing. I would also like to produce large land-based installation work, but this is dependent on my access to equipment, space and materials. Until then I can continue to enjoy experimenting with colour.

Of Dragons and Maidens

New work by Cathy Smith An exhibition in two parts

Above: Study for 'Of maidens and dragons'

2024 is the Chinese Year of the Dragon, this time a green and wooden dragon. In the last few years I have used the animal from the Chinese Zodiac as the basis of my exhibited art work. Earlier in the year I set about collecting various pieces of bamboo and other woods to produce dragons.

However, an all too brief visit Europe after Easter led to my not only catching up with relatives, but to also discovering early Briton, early Christian, and Renaissance art and crafts featuring the dragon to promote fear, or as a symbol of Satan. Then came the extravagant women in paintings of Kiki Kogelnik, followed by a whole new world of pre-Columbian Mexican female deities sporting Kahloesque earrings in the British Museum. My earnest depictions of green dragons in jungles were abandoned.

Finally, the inclusion of both the 'princess and the dragon' trope or other variations of fair and fairly helpless maiden needing rescue, and St. George sorting out paganism, results in a heady mix of cautionary tales, rescue, triumphs and healing.

I have used a variety of mediums to explore these musings in two and three dimensions. I hope you enjoy viewing them as much as I have making them.

The show takes place in two locations: Yarragon Station Gallery from 1 – 27 October, opening Sunday 6 October, 2.00pm. and Red Tree Gallery, Jindivick from 27 September – 29 October.

Artist Profile: Yvonne Pywell

My love of nature is the inspiration for my art designs. Art and textiles allow me to escape from the “real world”, by being mesmerized and lost in the process of the creation. Landscapes, flora and fauna and building designs all provide inspiration for my work.

By studying and observing the harmony of the natural environment my work highlights the beauty. My art explores this beauty as well as capturing my experiences and is an interpretation of the world around me. My creativity is inspired by holidays, zoos, local environment and around our garden, mainly using my photos as inspiration.

I always have a camera in hand to capture exciting images of landscapes, buildings, flora and fauna to use later as references for my art works.

While I have no formal art training, I have completed a lot of short courses with some amazing textile artists that have allowed me to develop my own style of what I describe as thread painting (free motion sewing machine embroidery) over collage, applique fabric and painting. People are often surprised my art is not a drawing or painting but made from fabric and threads.

Approximately ten years ago I crossed over to the dark side(!) from traditional quilting to my preferred method of art, which is textiles using inks, paints, fabrics and threads to embellish with the sewing machine. This practice came from a workshop exploring making art from fabric cut up into small pieces and resewn to create new fabric then used to make a textile art piece. Since this time my passion and skills for textile art has developed immensely and allowed me to develop my own style of thread painting.

My art style is always evolving and since joining the Baw Baw Arts Alliance Textile group I have been encouraged to push beyond my comfort zone and be more creative in textiles.

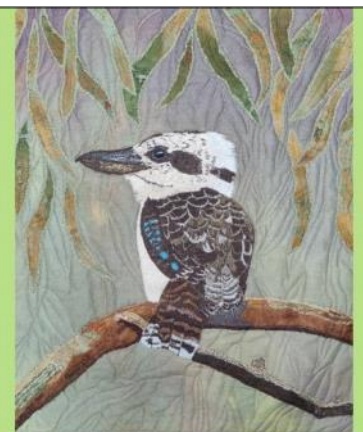

I find it useful to have a clear process for my work which begins with brainstorming ideas:

- Brainstorming ideas
- If an animal or bird, research on internet.
- Look for inspiration from photos usually mine or I will use royalty free photos from internet.
- Design how it will look by drawing it out.
- Think about colours and threads.
- Start making the art adapting the ideas as it develops.
